

By concentrating media ownership we deny ourselves the purest component of democracy. Free and independent speech.

With media owned by a few powerful people, can you explain to me the difference between democracy and communism? They are diametricly opposed ideologies, but with the proposed FCC rule changes, they will become, in reality, all the more parallel. It didn't work for communism, it won't work for democracy.